THE CHURCH IN IRELAND.—A writer thus sketches the English Church Establishment in Ireland, which is now about to yield to legislation:

"The Hierarchy of the Irish Church consists at present of two Archbishops—the Archbishop of Armagh and the Archbishop of Dublin—and ten Bishops. The beneficed clergy are about 1400, exclusive of deans, prebendaries, and other ecclesiastical dignitaries. The number of parishes in Ireland is about 2400, most of which have their parish churches; but in some of these parishes there is often not a score of Protestants, while the Roman Catholics in them are counted by hundreds or thousands. Every parish in Ireland is provided with a clergyman, but as the number of clergymen is not equal to the number of parishes, in numerous instances, one clergyman has the spiritual care of two or three parishes. In certain parishes where Divine service is regularly performed in the places of worship belonging to the Establishment, the congregation might be counted upon the fingers, and there are cases in which besides the clergyman and the clerk, no worshippers present themselves when the edifice is opened for the performance of the service. Meanwhile, in those same places the Catholic churches are crowded with worshippers. The incomes of the parochial clergy arise partly from tithes rent charges, with glebe lands and house and partly from a house tax on houses in cities and towns, the proceeds of which are known as Minister money. The total annual revenue of the Establishment in Ireland is about £600,000, of which £400,000 is tithes rent charge. Originally the direct payment of tithes was universally enforced; then a law was enacted providing for composition for tithes; but this plan was attended with so much difficulty in the collection of payment, and gave rise to such serious disturbances, the enforcement frequently provoking outrage and bloodshed, that thirty years ago an act was passed by the British Parliament abolishing composition for tithes, and substituting, in their stead a fixed payment of three fourths of their amount, to be paid by the landlords or others having a perpetual interest in the land.

A NEW IMMIGRATION PLAN.—There is ample evidence that the great natural advantages of our State are beginning to be recognized. We are pleased to learn that there are with us at this time, several gentlemen who are inclined to co-operate with the citizens of Virginia in an effort to divert a portion of the better class of immigrants from Europe to our Old Dominion.

The scheme which these gentlemen propose is, as follows: The owners of land form companies by subscription of parts or whole tracts, mill property, mines, &c., to the capital stock, the valuation to be made by agreement or by appraisement, and stock issued to the various owners to the amount of valuation. Then additional preferred stock, bearing six per cent interest, payable from first dividend, is issued in amounts sufficient to cover expenses of surveying, mapping, advertising, &c., to a company of capitalists organized for this purpose in London. After the interest of the money advanced is satisfied, the dividends will be paid upon all the stock alike, that is to both land and cash subscribers.

Those gentlemen who have come here are Dr. Tomkins, of London Mr. C. C. Leigh, of New York city, and Egbert Hasard, of London. Other gentlemen are in different parts of the South, and we are informed that the project meets with the hearty approval of all of those to whom it has been explained.—Richmond Whig.

THE METHODIST EPISCOPAL MARRIAGE SERVICE.—It is not generally known that at the last General Conference, in 1864, the marriage service was altered. The charge to the parties previously read, "I require and charge you both (as you shall answer at the dreadful day of judgment, when the secrets of all hearts shall be disclosed) that, if either of you know, &c. So in the covenant the bride promised to "obey" and "serve" her husband, as well as to "love, honor and keep him." In the present book, the reference to the day of judgment and the bride's vow to obey her husband are wanting. Instead of "wilt thou obey him, serve him, love, honor and keep him," as it had stood for centuries, it now reads "wilt thou love, honor and keep him," the words "obey him, serve him," having been expunged. And so also in the words of the bride to the bridegroom, instead of "I, N. take thee, M. to be loved, cherish and obey till death do us part," as it was up to 1864, we now read "to love and to cherish," merely the "obey" having been struck out. There seems to be a little agitation, mainly on the part of young husbands, it seems, to have the omitted words reinstated.

As an ingenious trick in the shopkeeping line, the New York Evening Post says that at a Broadway store recently a large number of articles, among them stockings, were ticketed for sale at a "great sacrifice." A lady customer bought a lot of stockings which proved to be "decoys." The clerk, skillfully laying them aside, was about to wrap up another lot for her, when she interrupted him by protesting that they were of inferior quality. He declared that they were exactly the same, but, after an altercation, permitted her to take the lot she had selected, and begged very hard to have the privilege of sending them home, which she declined. The Post warns buyers of cheap goods against these "decoys."

NEWSPAPER SPONGERS.—An exchange makes the following sensible remarks:—There are many people in the world who make it a business to sponge the reading of their town paper without any expense to themselves. They are found wherever the paper is left—in a shop, office, store, or barber shop, and borrowing it before the owner has an opportunity of seeing it. This is done by very many who are abundantly able, and whose duty would seem to be to sustain their county paper by subscribing and paying for it.

POULTERER'S FRIEND.
A CERTAIN CURE FOR
GAPES AND OTHER DISEASES IN CHICKENS AND TURKEYS.
A Certain Preventive of Chicken Cholera.
Will prevent disease in all kinds of fowl, and promote an increase of fat. Read the following:
Jefferson, Frederick co., Md.,
July 24, 1867.

Messrs. Clotworthy & Co.:
Gents:—The wonderful cures which have been made by your Poultryer's Friend cannot fail to interest all who raise poultry. A gentleman from this village has been experimenting on chickens with the Gapes. He tried your Poultryer's Friend, according to the directions, and it had the desired effect in removing the worm, effectually relieving the chicken at once. Since then I have had many calls for it, and it has been used extensively with the same result. It is of incalculable value to all who raise poultry.
Respectfully,
A. SPENCER.

BALLARD HOTEL,
RICHMOND, Va., March 10, 1868.
This elegant establishment is open to accommodation of the public. The building is one of THE FINEST IN THE CITY, and for style, convenience and beauty of arrangement, is acknowledged to be superior.
ITS FURNITURE
is new and complete, and for cleanliness, it is proverbial.
The subscriber, after more than twenty years' experience in the business, thinks he risks nothing in saying that this Hotel shall, in every respect, be EQUAL TO ANY IN THE SOUTH,
and asks the patronage of his friends and the public generally.
JOHN P. BALLARD,
Proprietor.
